

Peter V. Ueberroth has been Managing Director of Contrarian Group Inc., an investment and management company that invests in small and medium size companies and takes a management role providing strategic guidance, since 1990. In July 1999, Ueberroth successfully orchestrated the purchase of the Pebble Beach Company, bringing it back to U.S. ownership after years of foreign ownership, and is its Owner and Co-Chairman.

Ueberroth served as the sixth Commissioner of Major League Baseball from 1984 to 1989. From 1980 to 1984, he was President of the Los Angeles Olympic Organizing Committee (LAOOC), the private non-profit organization responsible for staging and operating the 1984 Los Angeles Olympic Games. Under Ueberroth's leadership and management, the first privately financed Olympic Games resulted in a surplus of $238 million that continues to support youth and sports programs throughout the United States. In 1962, Ueberroth founded First Travel Corporation. When he sold the company in 1980, it was the second largest travel business in North America with more than 300 wholly owned retail travel agencies.

Ueberroth was named 1984 Man of the Year by Time Magazine and The Sporting News, has been awarded the French Legion de'Honneur and is one of two Americans to ever receive the Olympic Order-Gold from the International Olympic Committee. He is the author of "Made in America", a bestseller published in 1985 by William Morrow.

Ueberroth serves as Co-Chairman of the Board of Ambassadors International (AMIE) and is a member of the Board of the The Coca-Cola Company and Hilton Hotels Corporation.

Ueberroth was born September 2, 1937 in Evanston, Illinois. He attended San Jose State University on an athletic scholarship in water polo, leading his team in scoring 1957-58, and earned a degree in business. Ueberroth competed in the 1956 U.S. Olympic Water Polo Trials.

Ueberroth and his wife, the former Virginia (Ginny) Nicolaus, reside in Laguna Beach, California. They have four children and eight grandchildren.

Erroll B. Davis Jr. took office as Chancellor of the University System of Georgia on February 6, 2006. As Chancellor, Davis is responsible for the state's 35 public colleges and universities. The University System has 259,945 students, 35,000 faculty and staff, and an annual budget of $5 billion. Additionally, the University System of Georgia has administrative responsibility for the Georgia Public Library Service, which manages the state's 58 public library systems.

Davis, had served as Chairman of the Board of Alliant Energy Corporation – an energy holding company with $8.3 billion in total assets and annual operating revenues of $3 billion – since 2000. He joined Alliant in 1998 as President and Chief Executive Officer. Davis retired from his dual roles as President and CEO in July 2005, and retained the Chairman's post until his move to the University System.

Prior to the creation of Alliant Energy, Davis served as President and CEO of WPL Holdings, from 1990 to 1998. From 1978 to 1990, Davis rose through the senior management ranks at Wisconsin Power and Light Company, starting as Vice President of Finance and ending as CEO and President. His career also includes corporate finance positions at Xerox Corporation and Ford Motor Company.

Davis' higher education experience includes serving as a member of the University of Wisconsin System Board of Regents from 1987 to 1994, and as a former Chairman of the Board of Trustees of Carnegie Mellon University, of which he is a life member. He presently serves as a member of the Board of Trustees of the University of Chicago. A native of Pittsburgh, Pa., Davis earned a Bachelor of Science in electrical engineering from Carnegie Mellon University, in 1965, and a M.B.A. in finance from the University of Chicago, in 1967. He is a member of the Board of Directors of BP p.l.c., PPG Industries, Inc., and Union Pacific Corp., in addition to serving as a member of the American Society of Corporate Executives and numerous other professional associations and civic organizations. In 2004, he was elected to the U.S. Olympic Committee Board, and he chairs the USOC's Audit Committee.

Together with his wife Elaine, Davis established the Davis Family Foundation, which makes annual grants to numerous students in need. In 2001, the Davis' received the Dane County/City of Madison Martin Luther King Jr. Award for their work in supporting scholarships for minority youth as well as other community programs. Erroll is the recipient of numerous honors and awards, including recognition as one of the "75 Most Powerful Blacks in Corporate America" by Black Enterprise magazine in 2005, one of the "Top 50 Blacks in Technology" at the Black Engineer of the Year 2005 Awards Conference, the Carnegie-Mellon Alumni Distinguished Service Award in 2004. Davis also was named one of the "50 Most Powerful Black Executives in America" by Fortune magazine in 2002 and received the Distinguished Alumnus Award from the University of Chicago's Graduate School of Business in 1993, the same year he received a Bronze Medal in Financial World's "CEO of the Year" competition. In addition, Davis was honored by the magazine U.S. Black Engineer as the "Black Engineer of the Year" in 1988.

Erroll and Elaine Davis have two adult children, Christopher and Whitney, and one granddaughter, Alexis.

Jair K. Lynch, a two-time U.S. Olympian and silver medalist on the parallel bars at the 1996 Olympic Games, has 10 years experience in real estate development and construction with significant work involving office, institutional and multi-family residential development.

From 1994 to 1997, Lynch worked in the real estate development arm of Silicon Graphics Inc., and with his team developed two corporate campuses valued over $250 million. In 1998, he founded The Jair Lynch Companies (JLC), and has worked diligently to apply his knowledge of the Washington D.C. market and his development expertise to build projects that have a positive impact on the community. The 200,000 square feet of sports and youth facilities, participation in the site evaluation of the future DC Baseball Stadium, and 500 units of housing are the best examples of the $275 million of construction managed by JLC.

Lynch was a 12-time All American at Stanford University and Captain of Stanford's two-time NCAA National Championship gymnastics team in 1992 and 1993. He also competed in numerous international competitions while on the U.S. National Team (1990-1996).

Lynch graduated from Stanford University in 1994 with a Bachelor of Science degree in civil engineering and a Bachelor of Arts degree in urban design. He is also a graduate of Leadership Washington 2002.

Lynch served as an Executive Board Member of the DC Olympic 2012 Bid Committee and is currently a member of DC Mayor Anthony Williams' Blue Ribbon Panel on Sports Commissions. Lynch also serves on the Boards of several non-profits including the Greater Washington Sports Alliance, DC Building Industry Association, In 2 Books, Recreation Wish List Committee, Cultural Tourism DC, and the Fannie Mae Foundation's Advisory Committee on Affordable Housing Leadership. Lynch also founded, organized and sponsored a Goodwill Tour to the Caribbean to teach gymnastics and donate equipment for the future development of a National Governing Body.

Lynch resides in Washington, D.C.

Mary McCagg, a two-time Olympian, has been a United States Olympic Committee (USOC) Athletes' Advisory Council (AAC) Vice Chair since 2000 and was an AAC member from the sport of rowing 1996 - 2000. Beginning in 1996, McCagg served on the USOC Board of Directors and was one of five athlete representatives on the USOC Executive Committee. She has also been active on numerous USOC committees. Additionally, McCagg was a member of the U.S. Rowing Board of Directors from 1996 to 2000.

McCagg competed in the 1992 and 1996 Olympic Games with the U.S. Rowing Team women's eight, reaching the finals in both competitions. A member of the U.S. National Rowing Team from 1989 to 1997, McCagg is an 11-time national champion, three-time world medalist – including a gold at the 1995 World Championships in Tampere, Finland – and a 1995 Pan American Games gold medalist.

McCagg was one of four USOC Athlete Service Coordinators for the 2000 Olympic Games in Sydney, Australia, and is an Assistant Chef de Mission for the 2004 U.S. Olympic Team in Athens, Greece.

A 1989 cum laude graduate of Harvard University with a Bachelor of Arts degree in psychology, since 1999 McCagg has been the Assistant Publishing Manager for Candlewick Press in Cambridge, Massachusetts. Previously, McCagg was Assistant to the Publisher at Dutton Children's Books, New York, New York (1998-1999); Production Manager for Retail Bank Merchandising, Cambridge (1992-1994 and 1996-1998); and Fundraiser and Marketing Coordinator for the Chattanooga (Tennessee) Rowing Club (1994-1996).

McCagg was an athlete spokesperson for Champion International Corporation, Stamford, Connecticut (1993-1997) and, in conjunction with the Charles River Regatta Trust, Boston, Massachusetts, established YO! ROW!, an urban outreach program uniting elite athletes and inner-city youth to teach diversity, self-reliance and teamwork.

McCagg resides in Cambridge.

Michael (Mike) P. Plant was named the Braves' Executive Vice President of Business Operations in November 2003 and oversees stadium operations, security, finance, personnel, special events and the minor league clubs. Plant joined the Braves after having served as an Executive Vice President of Turner Sports since February 2002. Previously, Plant was President of the Goodwill Games and Vice President of Events for Turner Sports.

Prior to joining Turner Sports, Plant was President of Medalist Sports, a full-service sports marketing company he founded in 1988. Medalist Sports created and operated premier cycling events such as the Tour DuPont, Tour of China and the 1996 Olympic Trials. Plant was Associate Executive Director of the U.S. Cycling Federation from 1986 to 1988 and Executive Director of the Canoe and Kayak Team from 1985 to 1986.

Plant was a member of the 1980 U.S. Olympic Speedskating Team in Lake Placid, N.Y., and a six-time member of U.S. World Championship speedskating teams. Since 1980, Plant has been appointed to numerous committees of the United States Olympic Committee (USOC), U.S. International Speedskating Association and USA Cycling. In January 1989, after serving two four-year terms as the U.S. Speedskating athlete representative on the USOC Athletes' Advisory Council, Plant was elected to a four-year term as AAC Chairman. Plant served an eight-year term on the USOC Board of Directors and Executive Committee (1984-1992) and was President of USA Cycling from 1995 to 2002.

Plant was also a member of the Atlanta Committee for the Olympic Games (ACOG) Board of Directors and the Board of Trustees for the Salt Lake Olympic Bid Committee for the 2002 Winter Games.

Plant serves on the International Cycling Federation's (UCI) Executive Committee (1997-2005) and is Chairman of the Television and Marketing Commission.

Stephanie A. Streeter is Chairman, President and Chief Executive Officer of Banta Corporation, a global marketing leader in printing and supply chain management with 8,300 employees worldwide, $1.4 billion in annual sales and is traded on the New York Stock Exchange. Streeter joined Banta in January 2001 and has served on the Banta Board of Directors since July 2001.

Previously, Streeter was with Avery Dennison and in 1999 concluded her 15 years with the company as Group Vice President for Worldwide Office Products. She also served as Chief Operating Officer of idealab!, a Pasadena, Calif.-based Internet business incubator.

Streeter earned a bachelor's degree in political science from Stanford University in 1979, where she started on the women's varsity basketball team for four years and was captain her junior and senior year. Following graduation, Streeter worked in marketing, sales and operating capacities for Automation Consultants and Xerox Corporation in Northern California, and Decision Data Computer Corporation in Horsham, Pennsylvania.

Streeter currently serves on the Board of Trustees of ThedaCare Inc., and is a member of the Board of Directors of Wisconsin Manufacturers & Commerce.

Robert (Bob) J. Ctvrtlik, a three-time U.S. Olympian, was named to the International Olympic Committee in the fall of 1999. Elected to the IOC Athlete's Commission in 1996, he was re-elected for an eight-year term at the 2000 Olympic Games.

Ctvrtlik has served on the IOC Reform Commission, the IOC Environmental Commission and working groups for the 2002 Olympic Winter Games and 2004 Olympic Games. A founding board member of the World Anti-Doping Agency (WADA), he served on the WADA Standardization and Harmonization Subcommittee and was Chairman of the Site Evaluation Search Committee for the WADA Headquarters. On June 23, 2006, an amendment to the USOC Bylaws approved the appointment of Ctvrtlik as Vice President International.

Heralded by many as one of the best serve receivers to have played the sport of volleyball, Ctvrtlik competed in numerous international competitions for the United States including the 1988 Olympic Games where the U.S. won the gold medal, the 1992 Olympic Games where the U.S. brought home the bronze medal, and the 1996 Olympic Games when he captained the USA Volleyball Team.

Named Outstanding Defensive Player at the 1986 World Championships and Outstanding Passer at the 1988 Olympic Games, Ctvrtlik was Captain of the USA volleyball team from 1994 to 1996 and was named USA Volleyball's Player of the Year in 1994. In 1995 the International Volleyball Federation (FIVB) elected him Best Player in the World, and he was the only American selected to FIVB's 1995 Men's World Centennial Gala All-Star Team.

Ctvrtlik was born July 8, 1963 in Long Beach, California. A 1985 graduate of Pepperdine University with a bachelor's degree in business administration, he is President of Green Street Properties, LLC in Huntington Beach, California. In 1995, he founded the Bob Ctvrtlik Give Back Foundation to help abused, disabled and disadvantaged children.

Ctvrtlik and his wife, Cosette, have three sons, Josef, Erik and Mathew.

Anita L. DeFrantz was named to the International Olympic Committee in October 1986 and currently serves as the Vice President of FISA, the international rowing federation. A 1976 Olympic rowing bronze medalist and 1980 Olympic Team member, she was a member of the USA National Rowing Team from 1975 to 1980, winning six national championships and a silver medal at the 1978 World Rowing Championships.

First elected to the IOC's Executive Board in July 1992, DeFrantz is Chair of the IOC's Working Group on Women and Sport and is a member of the IOC's Finance Commission, Sport and Law Commission, Juridical Commission and Commission for the Olympic Movement. She received the Olympic Order Medal of Bronze in 1980.

DeFrantz graduated from Connecticut College in 1974 with a degree in political philosophy and earned her law degree at the University of Pennsylvania Law School (1977). From 1981 to 1984 she was Vice President of Olympic Villages for the Los Angeles Olympic Organizing Committee. In 1985, DeFrantz joined the staff of the Amateur Athletic Foundation of Los Angeles (AAF), the organization established to manage the surplus from the 1984 Olympic Games. She has served as the AAF's President since 1987.

A member of the Salt Lake Organizing Committee, DeFrantz is President and a member of the Board of Directors of Kids in Sports, Los Angeles. Other boards on which she serves include the Martin Luther King Legacy Association, the Institute for International Sport, Children NOW and the Smithsonian National Museum of American History. She also is a Trustee and Steward of the Women's Sports Foundation.

DeFrantz was born in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania on October 4, 1952. She now resides in Santa Monica, California.

James (Jim) L. Easton has been President of the International Archery Federation (FITA) since 1989 and was named to the International Olympic Committee in September 1994. In February 2002, he was elected an IOC Vice President. Chairman and Chief Executive Officer of Easton, Inc., a diversified international sporting goods company, he is a member of the Board of Directors of the National Archery Association Foundation and was a member of the Salt Lake Organizing Committee's Management Committee.

A member of the Los Angeles Olympic Organizing Committee (LAOOC) for the 1984 Olympic Games, Easton was Mayor of the Athlete's Village at UCLA, Commissioner of Archery and Vice President of the Technology Department. He also served on the Executive Board of the Atlanta Committee for the Olympic Games (ACOG) and the Board of Directors for the 1991 U.S. Olympic Festival in Los Angeles.

A graduate of UCLA where he earned a Bachelor of Science degree in engineering, Easton is a member of the Board of Visitors of the Anderson School at UCLA and serves on the Amateur Athletic Foundation of Los Angeles, Kids in Sport, Disney Goals and Ambassadors International boards of directors.

A native of Los Angeles, Easton and his wife, Phyllis, have two children, Lynn and Greg.

Bob Bowsby was named the Jaquish & Kenninger Director of Athletics at Stanford University in April 2006. At Stanford, he directs a department that includes 35 intercollegiate varsity teams – 15 men's, 19 women's and one coed – plus the physical education department, intramurals, club sports, open recreation and the Stanford Golf Course. The department has an annual budget of approximately $75 million and boasts the most individual NCAA Championships in the country.

Prior to becoming the Stanford Athletic Director, Bowsby spent nearly 15 years at the helm of the University of Iowa's athletic program from 1991-2006. He piloted a program that excelled in football, men's and women's basketball, wrestling and many other sports while providing oversight for a department that included 24 sports. In addition to his work with the athletic department, he served as chair of the NCAA Wrestling Committee and was on NCAA committees on Financial Aid and Amateurism. He also served a five-year term on the NCAA Division I Basketball Tournament Committee.

Bowsby has served as an Executive Committee member with both the National Association of Collegiate Directors of Athletics and the Division I-A Athletic Directors Association and was President of the I-A Directors group in 2002-03. He was elected chair of the NCAA Olympic Sports Liaison Committee and represented the NCAA as one of two voting members on the United States Olympic Committee, and he has been a member of the Board of Governors for the National Wrestling Hall of Fame. He recently completed service on the 15-member commission on Opportunities in Athletics by US Secretary of Education, Rod Paige.

A native of Waterloo, Iowa, Bowsby earned his bachelor's degree from Moorhead State University (Minnesota) in 1975, where he was a member of the wrestling team, and his master's degree from the University of Iowa in 1978. The National Association of Collegiate Directors of Athletics (NACDA) named Bowsby as Central Region Athletic Director of the Year for 2001-02, and, in 2002, he was selected as the Street & Smith's Sports Business Journal National Athletic Director of the Year.

John S. Hendricks is the Founder and Chairman of Discovery Communications, the leading global real-world media and entertainment company. He launched the Discovery Channel in 1985, creating America's first cable network dedicated to providing world class documentary programming. He has been the driving force behind Discovery's dramatic growth that currently encompasses operations in 170 countries and territories with 1.4 billion subscribers. The Discovery family of networks includes over 100 networks, representing 29 brands, including The Learning Channel, Animal Planet, Travel Channel, Discovery Health Channel, Discovery Kids and Discovery Times Channel. The Discovery properties also consist of more than 100 Discovery Channel Stores.

A visionary in the media industry, Hendricks has been honored with a Primetime Emmy Award and with the Academy of Television Arts & Sciences highest honor, the Governors Award, for conceiving the TLC series, Great Books. The Ark Trust named him a recipient of the Genesis Award for lifetime achievement for his efforts in raising awareness around the globe about animal issues. Hendricks has also been recognized as the first corporate leader to receive the National Education Association's Friend of Education award for "innovations in education and technology and greatly expanding educational opportunity for America's schoolchildren."

Hendricks graduated magna cum laude in 1973 from the University of Alabama, Huntsville with a bachelor's degree in history, and he earned an honorary doctorate from the university in 1991. He was a founding member of the former Women's United Soccer Association, and he served as vice chair of the Washington-Baltimore 2012 Coalition. Hendricks is also slated to join the new ownership group of Major League Soccer's D.C. United.

He serves on the Board of Directors a number of organizations, including the American Film Institute and the National Cable and Telecommunications Association. Additionally, he is on the Advisory Board of Lowell Observatory and the University of Maryland, College Park Foundation Board of Trustees.